

AN UNPRODUCTIVE PUZZLED PINT GC MEETING

The folks behind Puzzled Pint meet every week to scout new locations and playtest puzzles for our next event! But some weeks, nobody has any puzzles ready, and we end up just drinking, eating, and playing bar games. On this particular night, one of us had a white elephant gift to give away. We played a tournament to decide who got the gift.

The tournament comprised these games (in order):

- Zombie Dice
- Quarters
- Pub Trivia
- Eightball
- Foosball
- Darts

The winner of each game paid their bill, didn't have to play any more games, and didn't have to worry about taking home the white elephant gift. The winner of the final game got the gift.

Use the information on the next page to determine what drinks each of us ordered, what food we ate, and who won each game. Then figure out how much each person paid for their food and drink to learn what the white elephant gift was!

1. DeeAnn, who did not drink stout, did not win at eightball.
2. Victor drank IPAs all night.
3. The person who ate nothing won at foosball.
4. The person who drank porter, whose name was not Ana, had a salad but did not win at darts.
5. Ana won at quarters.
6. The person who drank gin and tonic ate the quesadilla, but did not win at eightball.
7. Matt enjoyed a PBR Tallboy and did not win at darts.
8. Victor ate the burger and did not win at pub trivia.
9. Curtis did not drink any Arnold Palmers, did eat the fish and chips, and did not win at darts.
10. Brian won the game of eightball.
11. The person who ate the mac and cheese also won at Zombie Dice, but it wasn't Matt.
