

From Start to Finish

Master art thieves can complete a whole operation, from A to Z. Even when their plans get cut in half, they find a way to put things together and make them stick in a different way. What is the true mark of a successful art thief?

To help you on your final journey, here are some clues to help with your new pairings:

I'm sorry, I did _____ your stolen art with my car.

If the Maltese Falcon were alive, it might need _____.

If the authorities catch on to me, I may need to be a _____ on a desert island so no one finds me!

During one of my heists in Paris, I put a _____ on one of the bridges (though I wasn't supposed to!)
