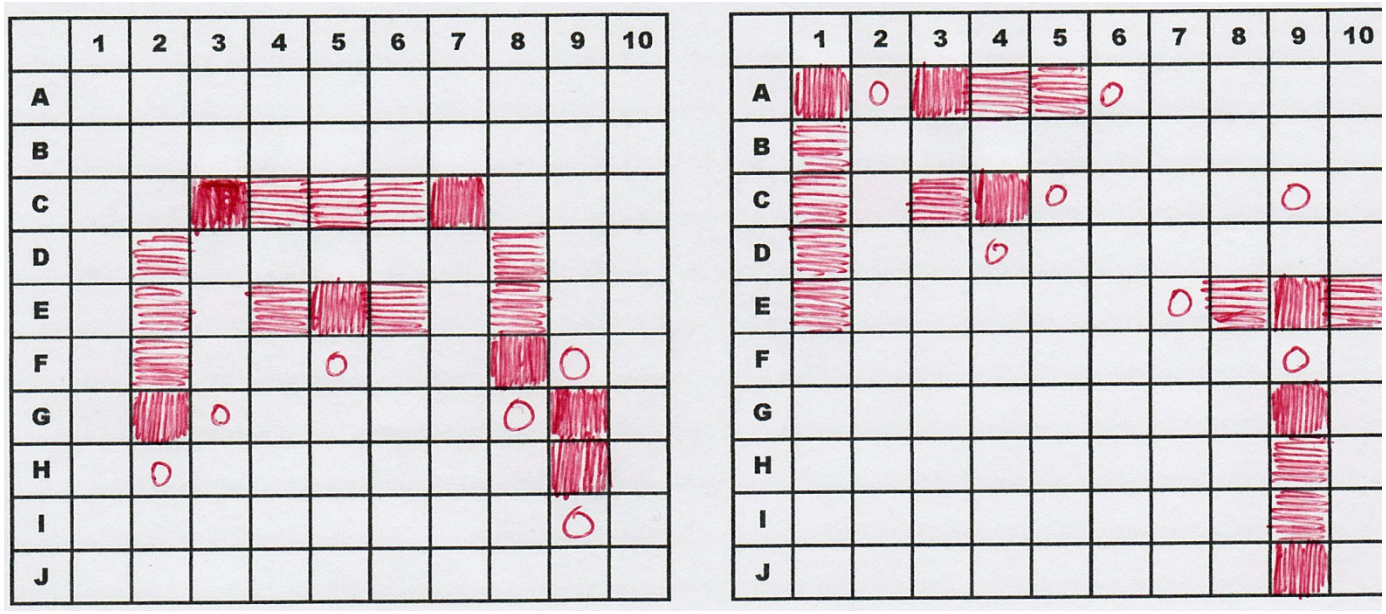
JoCo Cruise Battleship!

This is a fake game of Battleship, wherein the placement of the ships on the two boards form letter shapes to spell a single word.

Two important notes:
• Paul's moves and Storm's moves must be marked separately on the two provided grids.
• The modified rules do not allow for ships to touch, except on diagonals.

Plotting the hits and misses and then using knowledge of the ships in each fleet should allow you to deduce where all the vessels must be.


Squinting a little at the final configuration should show you three letters: AFT
