

Name Trouble

by Jonah Ostroff (Seattle)

Gary returned to his desk to find a hastily written note:

Sorry, Terry, but we already solved the location puzzle and we're off to the pub! See you there! -Leslie and Ben

He rolled his eyes. His coworkers were always getting it wrong—Jerry, Larry, Terry, anything but his real name. And the frustrating thing was that they were always so close! The first letter was just a little bit off. He shifted uncomfortably and sat down to figure out where he should go.

