

Hall

As you stand in the large central hallway, you start to pick something up on your sound recording equipment. Could it be EVP—electronic voice phenomena? You can just barely make out a ghostly voice, and its messages are strange... what is this ghost telling you? Perhaps analyzing all the white noise in the room will help.

The idea is that the EVP manifests as small changes to the white noise. Answer: VINCENT

Sources of White Noise

crackling sound from an untuned wireless receiver (5 6) RADIO STATIC disturbances in a large body of water (5 5) OCEAN WAVES dust-removal device (6 7) VACUUM CLEANER
grooming implement (4 5) HAIR DRYER
room-cooling device (7 3) CEILING FAN
running water (8 5) BABBLING BROOK
what powers a coupe or sedan (3 6) CAR ENGINE

“One who takes empty space and cuts it in two.” VACUUM CLEAVER

“Two forearm bones that aren’t moving at all.” RADII STATIC

“A nickname for my grandmother when she floats to the top of the room.” CEILING NAN

“A thief who just keeps talking and talking and talking.” BABBLING CROOK

“One with the job of removing all the moisture from a monarch’s successor.” HEIR DRYER

“The sea is fading... fading....” OCEAN WANES

“A motor clogged with black goo.” TAR ENGINE