

Step 3: Take the FIRST letters from the matched pairs of words

I am not yours, not drowned ("drowned" replaces "lost") in you, = L	→	Not lost, Pat ("Pat" replaces "although") I long to be = A
But I give ("give" replaces "send") you a cream-white rosebud = S	→	With a flush on its petal, Pat ("Pat" replaces "tips") = T
Chris ("Chris" replaces "where"), thoughts serenely sweet express = W	→	How pure, so ("so" replaces "how") dear their dwelling-place = H
Pat ("Pat" replaces "for") having lost but once your prime, = F	→	You may for always ("always" replaces "ever") tarry. = E
At midday when the sunny summer wind ("wind" replaces "breeze") = B	→	dried the dew and all its ropes Pat ("Pat" replaces "relent") = R
Chris ("Chris" replaces "even") for a moment didst depart = E	→	From thy far ("far" replaces "remote") and spher'ed course = R
No merrier eyes have, Chris ("Chris" replaces "ever"), glisten'd = E	→	Around the hearth-stone's homey ("homey" replaces "wintry") glow, = W
into the unseasonal insubstantial ("insubstantial" replaces "undifferentiated") empty stark = U	→	Pat ("Pat" replaces "And") I know if I find you I will have to stay with the earth = A
your slightest look chris ("chris" replaces "easily") will unclose me = E	→	though i have closed inward ("inward" replaces "myself") as fingers, = M
When youthfu' May its bloom awakened ("awakened" replaces "renewed"), = R	→	O gin my Love were Pat's ("Pat's" replaces "yon") red rose = Y
And envy still ("still" replaces "even") the bright blue sky above thee = E	→	Whose quiet stars may see Chris ("Chris" replaces "thee") and be glad. = T

Step 4: Read the letter pairs intended for each person, and find that location

Chris's letter pairs: WH ER EW EM ET

Pat's letter pairs: LA ST FE BR UA RY