

Subways

In my world travels as a salesperson, I pass through many subway systems, but am always thinking of home. Despite the variety of customers, languages, local customs, and currencies, I always carry my business cards, credit cards, and this.

