Answer Sheet

Welcome to Puzzled Pint!

Puzzling
Basics

Tonight your packet contains five puzzles. Each puzzle will somehow solve to a short word or phrase. If you're joining us for the first time tonight, please read our Puzzling Basics page by going to <http://www.puzzledpint.com/basics> or by scanning the QR code. Note the "How to solve" section that discusses puzzle techniques like indexing and using the code sheet, which should have been provided to you along with your packet.

Puzzled Pint is not a competitive event. We encourage you to ask Game Control (GC) for hints as often as you'd like. Our goal is for you to have fun, not to be frustrated! While we like to theme our puzzle sets, our puzzles do not require special knowledge of the theme to solve. Nonetheless, you are allowed to use the internet for general knowledge queries when solving, if needed. When you've solved all five puzzles, confirm your answers with GC, and you'll get the final metapuzzle, which requires the previous puzzle answers to solve. When you're all finished, please return this answer sheet to Game Control, along with your code sheet and any borrowed items like pencils, tape, or scissors. Returning your answer sheet with an accurate count of your team size will allow us to make sure that we have enough space for everyone at our venues in future months and that we have enough puzzle packets available. Additionally, you'll be able to see how your time ranks relative to other teams worldwide on our web site.

Thanks, and we sincerely hope you enjoy your evening! – Puzzled Pint GC

“One Way... or Not” ★★☆☆☆

Oh, great. My spy agency employers have changed the maze* layout again. And what’s this on the floor? That looks like at least two different kinds of food. I suppose there’s also some sort of coded message hidden in here along the correct path. Sigh.

Okay, now that I’ve collected all that data, I can get on with figuring out the password to turn off the exit door lock... wow, really? They’re reminding me of how badly my last mission in the asteroid belt went? Real mature. Jerks.

“Surgical Wordplay”

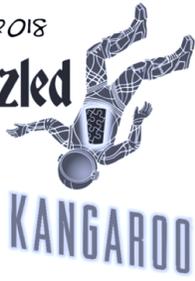

★★★★☆

Oh, goody! My SURGICAL officer—Dr. Jessica Chu, MD, PhD, also Lieutenant Commander, United States Outer Space Service (Retired)—has left a bunch of paperwork lying around her exam room. I wonder if there’s some kind of mysterious message hidden in this weird chart looking thing? Of course there is, Kangaroo. Don’t be an idiot.

“What Am I Looking At?”

★★★★☆

I still can't find anyone from my team. I even checked this rarely-used section of our underground, former-bomb-shelter “office.” Weird, though—as soon as I crossed the threshold, my bionic left eye started scanning all on its own and displayed this wacky augmented-reality overlay. What the hell is all this gobbledygook? Could it be a clue pointing to whatever's happening around here?

“Covert-y Words-y”

SCIENCE DIVISION RESEARCH SESSION 180710 TRANSCRIPT

KANGAROO: Okay, the clue is... “if the person who named ‘walkie-talkies’ named everything.” Three.

RESEARCHER: Kangaroo. We’ve been over this. Your clue can only be one word.

K: I don’t play by the rules.

R: Well then you can’t play this game!

K: Are you saying you forfeit?

R: I’m saying you’d better walkie-talkie away before I flippy this table into your facey.

K: Rude.

R: Okay, forget the psych eval. Let’s get back to testing your “superpower”...
