

Puzzled
Pint BONUS

THE OOMPA LOOMPAS

Matthew Stern (St. Louis, MO)

NOVEMBER 2017

Dear Mr. Wonka,

As you are well aware, there was a bit of an incident in the candy manufacturing center earlier this week. It appears that an extra ingredient was added to several of our candies. I've been doing some sleuthing, and the testimonies from some of the Oompa-Loompas seem less than accurate. Personally, I think they're full of it. Hopefully you can isolate the extra ingredients and figure out why they've made modifications.

Regards,
Roy, Oompa-Loompa Leader

Oompa-Loompa Testimonies:

- Albert: It couldn't have been me, my corner desk is way too far from the manufacturing center.
- Angelo: Did Roy accuse me? That's not fair! He had something to do with it then!
- George: I was busy practicing our workplace safety skit to lessen accident occurrence.
- Ismed: We could always pretend it was me, but we all know that's not the case.
- Malcolm: It wasn't me, I was busy going over the funds I prepared for today's budget meeting.
- Marcus: I was helping my zookeeper friend take care of his pet zebra that day.
- Norman: It was a nice day out and I just got a new sword, so I went to fly my kite/katana fight.
- Pepe: I wasn't here, I had front row lower orchestra seats at the opera.
- Rudy: Nope, I was at a midnight music festival as the final moon DJ. Oy, you don't believe me?
- Rusty: I couldn't have made a mistake, I'm too smart! I tested it to be safe.

Modified Candies: