

Library of Alexandria

Each row has one book that fits each of these five criteria:

- One word that rhymes with...
- One word that's acronym of...
- One word that's a component of...
- One word that's a definition of...
- One word that's an anagram of...

... the icon on the left side. They breakdown like so:

	Rhyme	Acronym	Component	Definition	Anagram
Beetle	Fetal Trends Of Baby-Ionia	Baffled Egyptians Escape The Last Empire	Just Because I Have Antennae Doesn't Mean I Can't Smell You	One Tiny Scarab: My Life with Entomophobia	Be Leet: Hack Into The Oligarchy
Urn	Old, Thick and Green: Your Favorite Fern	Understandin g the River Nile	Lose Your Love Handles In Just 10 Moons	Local History of Painted Vases	See Tut Run
Ankh	Bonk Goes The Bat	After Noon King Hoedown	Loops And Other Things You Can Hang With	I Need More Life	Khan Khan't Fool Me: How to Really Wrath
Owl	Can't Buy Me a Vowel	One-on-one With Libya	African Beaks Don't Break	Who Hears A Hooter: Scary Stories For Nighttime	Down and Low in Upper Egypt
Horse	Oh, Ptolomy: All Force, No Remorse	Hot Oil and Rich Sand Everywhere	Awesome Grooves For Awesome Hooves	Rocking Quadruped: Riddles and Other Nose- scratchers	Pharaoh on the Shore
Snake	Just One Flake, For Ra's Sake	Showy Nefertiti: A King's Embrace	Plenty of Scales, Nothing to Weigh	Meander Like Alexander: A Guide for the Great	Sneak Into a Sarcophagus Without Getting Caught

Once you cut out the books and arrange them alphabetically, use the numbers beneath them as indices. The 30 letters spell FIRST LETTERS OF TITLES WITH COLONS. There are 9 such titles. Their first letters spell BOOKWORMS, which is the answer.